

Sam's birthday present

Chan Yuen Yin, Ducky 6D (4)

Yesterday it was Sam's birthday. His dad bought him a model car! It's his dream toy and it's red which is his favourite color. He's so thankful for the present! He felt so excited.

After he got the present, he took it to the park to test it out. Just then, two boys came to him and asked if they could play with it. However he was testing it so he politely declined them. But still they took it away. Sam was so mad that he almost punched them! Their dad saw it but he didn't even care! So Sam shouted at the boys.

When he was shouting at them, their dad saw it. Sam felt frightened. He looked at the angry dad's face and told him to teach his kids some basic manners! But all he did was just telling them to give the toy back. Not even a sorry! Sam felt accused. Luckily, the kids' mom came back. She told them to apologize. The boys were scared of their mother so they felt sad and said sorry to Sam.

In the end he forgave the kids and learnt that we should never take peoples' things without permission.

Sam's birthday present

Yesterday was Sam's birthday. Sam's father gave him a new remote control car! It was his dream remote control car. He was so shocked that his mouth was widely opened.

After a couple minutes, he went down to the park to play with the model car with the remote control. When he went down to the park, he instantly pulled out his remote and played with the car. He felt very amazed. After a few minutes, two boys came near him. And they said 'Wow!' because they were amazed.

Suddenly the little boys took away his remote control car so he was furious. He felt so angry that he shouted at the little boys, 'Give it back or I will beat you up!'

Then he stomped the floor and wanted to charge at the boys. But it was unsuccessful because their dad grabbed the car out from the little boys. Sam told them it's rude to take away other's things and asked them to say sorry to him. Finally Sam forgave them and invited them to play together.
